How Indians Sleep Warm.

The Indian, according to a writer about camp life, resorts to two methods to keep warm while asleep. If it is not unduly cold, he lights a rather large fire and warms the earth, then rakes away the coals, lies down and pulls his blanket over him. in colder weather, besides this, he heats a big boulder, covers it lightly with earth, and curls himself around it. He never wraps himself in the blanket, but uses it exclusively as a covering.

Thirteen No Hoodes to Him. once Serg. John Figg. in acknowledging a presentation from his comrades in the Dover (Eng.) police force on his retirement, denied that misfortune attached to the number 13. He said he was one of a family of 13; he started work at thirteen; was 13 years in his first employment; joined the Dover police on April 13, when he was twice thirteen years old; and his famfly numbered 13.

Government Kept Going.

"I notice that the old man's quit cussin' the government" "Yes; after tryin' it for 30 year the government kept a goin', jes' like it never heard tell of him-never so much as askin' him to please let up an' give it a chance to grow up with the country. That made him so mad he was too full fer utterance, he was struck speechless!"

Would Be Second Choice. Little Helen had received a package through the mail from her Aunt Edith containing patterns for two dresses, one pink and one blue. One was intended for her and the other for her little sister, Dorothy. While examining the dresses, she exclaimed: "The little dear may have her choice, but I'll take the pink one."

Cure for Whooping Cough. A gill of amber, half a gill of old Jamaica rum. Mix them together and rub the child's back and breast with ft. Then put a piece of new flannel over breast and back. Do this night and morning and whenever the cough is very troublesome. You will find that whooping cough will not last long after this treatment.

Annual Slaughter of Elephants. Africa is the chief source of the world's supply of ivory, and it is estimated that 70,000 elephants are annually slaughtered for their tusks. But not more than 20 per cent of this ivory is represented in the total imports to Europe.

They Don't Know.

The Mule.

A wise man, in his own estimation, announces that a mule kicks because it doesn't know any better. This will greatly surprise many students of contemporaneous mule life. If ever there was an animal with low cunning expressed in its eye and its twitching nostril, that animal is the mule. Its ability to place a kick where it will give the greatest offense to its victim, is something marvelous.

Everyday Virtues.

An intrepid courage is at best but a holiday kind of virtue, to be seldom exercised, and never but in case of necessity, wrote John Dryden. Affa-bility, mildness, tenderness and a word which I would fain dring back to its original signification of virtue, I mean good nature, are of daily use; they are the bread of mankind, and staff of life.

Fried Chicken. A Tennessee preacher says that a man who would eat a fried chicken that had been stolen is as guilty as the thief who stole it. There must be some difference in culpability. A man can certainly resist the temptation to steal a chicken, but it would be some job to pass up the bird after it had been nicely fried and served with a hoecake on the side. - Houston

Laconic Advice.

When Atticus once discovered a treasure of gold while sigging under a house he sent news of his discovery to the emperor. Nerva, from whom he received the laconic reply: "Use it." And when in his diffidence he protested that it was too large a sum for his own personal use, the emperor responded: "Then abuse it."

To the Manor Born.

A lady accosted a little girl who was entering one of the fashionable New York flats where she knew the rules were exceedingly strict, and after some little conversation, said: "How is it you live in these flats? I thought they would not take children. How did you get in?" "Why," replied the child, I was born in."

One as Hard as the Other.

"The training of children is a con-fessedly difficult task," says an editorial writer. No more difficult than the training of parents. Many children find the task of conquering the prejudices and old-fashioned ideas of father and mother almost hopeless .-Toledo Blade.

Possible of Application. An old woodsman was walking through a forest when he saw a large bear approaching him. Realizing his predicament, he exclaimed: "Oh Lord, be with me!" Still the bear came on, when the man again prayed: "Oh Lord, be on my side." Seeing the bear continue to approach, the woodsman, whipping out his knife, exclaimed: "Oh Lord, if you won't be on my side, just declare neutrality, an' I'll show you the goll-darndest bear fight you ever saw in your life."

Wise Precaution.

A certain politician desired a diplomatic appointment, says the Washington Star. A friend, in surprise, said to him: "But you don't even speak the language of the country!" "Well," replied the determined applicant, "a man isn't nearly so likely to make indiscreet remarks, if he has to get a lexicon and look up the meaning of every word he utters."

Magic for Rust Spots.

To remove rust spots on bathtubs and basins and discolorations in tellet basins and slaks apply muriatic acid with a mop. As soon as the discolora-tion is removed the acid should be thoroughly riused off with clear water.
